Players Close Season With Pleasing Comedy

Cecilia Link and J. Bedford Wooley Share Honors in Gay Drama

A sparkling and thoroughly entertaining presentation of "Nancy's Private Affair" successfully closed the season for the Narberth Players last Friday and Saturday.

Directed by Martha Lindsey Simpson, who was assisted by Jane Nash, the play moved smoothly and swiftly and held the interest of the audience from the rising curtain to the final scene.

Sharing dramatic honors were Cecilia Link and J. Bedford Wooley, both of whom were largely responsible for the success of the performance.

Mr. Wooley was exceptionally well cast in the difficult role of a cynical but well-meaning friend who gives advice as to how to hold a husband. He manages to get himself quite involved in the affair and has a few anxious moments when he learns that his engagement has been announced, entirely without his knowledge or consent.

Miss Link played the part of the gold-digging woman who "gets her

The amount raised locally is approximately $4100.

Mr. Collins publicly expressed his appreciation of the efforts of team captains and workers, and asked that all turn in their cards as soon as possible so that a final report can be made.

Prize Winning Books Available at Library

Pulitzer Selections for Fiction, History and Poetry on Shelves

Three of the winners of the 1937 Pulitzer awards are available at the Narberth Community Library. They are: Fiction, "Gone With the Wind," by Margaret Mitchell; history, "Flowering of New England," by Van Wyck Brooks; poetry, "A Further Range," by Robert Frost.

The library purchased the first of its eight copies of "Gone With the Wind" in July, 1936. Since that time 170 reserves have been filled, and now for the first time an occasional copy may be found on the shelf without the necessity of placing one's name on the reserve list.

Attention of readers is being drawn to the previous winners of the award as well. "The owl suggests" for April (the library's own list of popular books) and the "Fireside Shelf" both are featuring partial lists of the prize-winning books.

"The Seven Simeons," by Boris Artzybasheff, one of two books to win the Herald-Tribune prize for the best book for children to be published in the spring, is also available at the library.

Readers interested in other book prizes such as the Nobel prize and the John Newbery Medal are referred to "Famous Literary Prizes and Their Winners," by Bessie Graham, head of the Library School of Temple University.

Hobby of Collecting Stamps is Profitable

Philatelist Often Makes Good Investment, R. D. MacGuffin Tells Rotarians

Postage stamps as an investment and as a hobby were discussed Tuesday by Ralph D. MacGuffin, of Merion, speaking before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Mr. MacGuffin, who is a dealer in stamps, illustrated his talk with a few album sheets.

"Human weaknesses common to all of us explain the vogue of stamp collecting," is his claim. He enumerated curiosity, gossip, the search for the elusive, spare-time occupation and a love of detail as urges which impel the philatelist.

From the investment standpoint, the Owners Must Defray Lantwyn Lane Repairs

Borough Cannot Pave Private Street at Public Expense, Says Councilman

A delegation from Lantwyn lane, Narberth, called upon Borough Council Monday night for aid in resurfacing the private thoroughfare. After some discussion it was agreed that the borough would do the job at cost, estimated at $275, if the property owners would raise that amount.

George H. Fortenbacher, spokesman for the group, pointed out that Lantwyn lane is now open at both ends and is used as a public highway. Others present were Arthur L. Cooke, Albert Blum and Thomas McConnell. There are twenty-three homes on the street, about half resident-owned.

As pointed out by Robert F. Wood, chairman of the Highway Committee, Council is powerless to make any repairs at public expense while Lantwyn lane is a private street, and it cannot be taken over by the borough because it is narrow and has no sidewalks.

It was the first meeting in some months at which all the councilmen and borough officers were present.

Burgess John R. Hall reported that police would give the customary protection to residences where owners were away on vacation this summer,

Springtime is Clean-Up Time

You can see signs of spring fever almost everywhere. Farmers are plowing and sowing their fields. Suburbanites are planting their gardens. Housewives are cleaning and revamping homes. Communities are starting improvement projects, and as will be noted Narberth's official Clean-up period is the week of May 17.

Winter is apt to be a time of general neglect—partly because of severe weather and partly because of the press of other matters in that busy season. Vacant lots, yards and even streets become unsightly. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, extending through the community, in the interest of health, safety and civic progress.

Such a clean-up campaign is a splendid activity for civic clubs, chambers of commerce, Boy Scouts and similar groups to sponsor. Every town should emulate those communities which, through a spirit of fine co-operation, have succeeded in gaining the name of "Spotlesstown."

When a movement to paint up, clean-up and beautify sweeps a community, it leaves in its wake a healthier, happier town. From the standpoint of fire safety alone, the movement pays big dividends—as the records show, many a disastrous fire has been caused by rubbish and litter. Drop a cigarette or a cigar butt into an accumulation of trash and a conflagration may follow—furthermore, piled rubbish is always susceptible to spontaneous ignition.

Carry out the clean-up campaign by carefully burning all trash in incinerators and under close supervision. Every citizen and every business will benefit—socially and economically.

This Safety Business

This matter of highway safety is gaining force all the time. In Pennsylvania, Governor Earle and Revenue Secretary Kelly constantly are driving home the need for more careful motoring. Branches of the Governor's Safety Council are organized in practically every county of the State. They in turn are forming subordinate branches in townships and boroughs.

This is a fine thing. It deserves unqualified support. Anything that will tend to cut down the appalling list of motoring fatalities is worth while. But there's another angle that needs considering, too. The pedestrian. Hand in hand with the program to teach better driving to our school children and our adults might go a course in better pedestrianism. You can see instances of the need for such a thing every day of your life.

Just how greatly pedestrians contribute to highway accidents is a subject on which statistics are few and far between. It seems safe to say, however, that the percentage is pretty high. For your average pedestrian is a somewhat arrogant and self-opinionated fellow, too much inclined to jaywalking and a disregard of the simplest laws of highway courtesy which, if flouted by a motorist, would land said motorist before a magistrate in an awful hurry.

Examples of pedestrianistic discourtesies may be seen many dozen in this township. On several specific occasions they've resulted in severe injuries; once or twice in death. The enactment and enforcement of definite regulations controlling pedestrians would be a meritorious thing. It's been done successfully in various cities and boroughs and in other states. Too often the tendency is to blame the motorist for every accident in which he and a pedestrian may be involved. Too often the fact that foot-travelers also have a responsibility in the safe and courteous use of the highways is overlooked.

The enactment of such regulations probably could not be accomplished at this legislative session. But an initial step could be taken in that the numerous subsidiary branches of the State Safety Council might add for home consumption a course in "safe pedestrianism" to their already established curricula dealing with the wiser use of the highways.

speaker said, stamps bought from the postoffice and salted away have shown great rises in value. He quoted a humorous contest with his wife who chose stocks for an investment while Mr. MacGuffin put an equal amount into stamps at the Narberth Postoffice. "The stocks went down and the stamps went up," he said.

The history of Germany, from the formation of the empire, through the inflationary period to today's swastika, is outlined in stamps, the speaker said. The features of famous men in American history become familiar through the issues of the United States, he pointed out.

The athletic trophy presented by the club to the Junior High School (won by the Trenton, N. J., J. H. S. team) was displayed, and a letter of thanks from Principal E. H. Snow was read.

Give Up War Right Urges Peace Worker

Speaker Tells Merion Women Voters of Economic-Political Conditions

Mrs. Edith Reeves Solenberger, a member of the Emergency Peace Campaign, addressed the Merion Branch of the League of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. James F. Shrader on Grays lane, Haverford, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Solenberger outlined the changes in both the economic and political worlds. In order to make war a thing of the past, she held, the nations of the world should agree to disagree without wars. She demonstrated this by calling attention to the various sectional disturbances in this country which have been settled by agreement. She also declared the way to keep United States out of war was not to have any world war. This can be done, if each nation will give up its right willingly to make war, the speaker stated.

Mrs. Solenberger advocated education of the young so that they will be able to discuss differences and in this way may overcome this terrible slaughter of the youth of the countries involved.

Tea was served with Mrs. J. Bruce Byall and Mrs. R. C. Smith at the tea tables.

Ardmore Firemen Start Plans for the June Fair

Arrangements for the annual fair of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore, to be held from Friday, June 18, to Saturday, June 26, were begun this week.

Tickets entitling the purchaser to participate in the awarding of a new 1937 Buick sedan were distributed to homes in the fire zone protected by the Ardmore volunteers.

In addition to the automobile, valuable awards will be distributed each night during the fair, to be held on Lancaster avenue near Church road, Ardmore.

In a letter accompanying the donation tickets William E. Kamerdze, president of the company, said the proceeds from the fair will go towards increasing the efficiency of the fire company in protecting the lives and property in the largest fire zone on the Main Line.

Dennis J. Sullivan is chairman of the committee in charge of awarding the automobile; Joseph M. Baltz, 8 Cricket avenue, Ardmore, is treasurer, and William Costello, secretary. Travers Loughrey, an engineer of the company, is general chairman of the fair committee.

Local Red Cross is Praised for Flood Work

All residents of the Main Line who contributed clothing for sufferers in the recent flood disaster or who worked in the headquarters of the Main Line Branch No. 1, Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter, American Red Cross during its flood activities under the able leadership of Mrs. Edward F. Hoffman of Villanova will be interested in the following excerpt of a letter received at the Main Line Branch Headquarters this week from the American Red Cross in Knoxville, Tennessee.

"In liquidating our warehouse here we have been very much interested in the work the different Chapters have done in handling the donated clothing for flood sufferers. Among hundreds of thousands of cases, crates, bundles, bales and boxes which have come under our observation I do feel that I want to pay particular tribute to one Chapter which did an outstanding piece of work in selecting, sorting, packing and labeling its garments. If all had done as well our work would have been only a fraction of what it was. This Chapter was the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter and the label said Main Line Branch No. 1. I have never seen better work and I would appreciate it if you would congratulate them for us."

Players Close Season With Sparkling Comedy

man," even if he is married. Her portrayal was splendidly done and her transition from the sweet young thing who entrances the unsuspecting husband to the scheming woman-of-the-world was excellent.

The part of the wife who gives up her husband only to win him back again, was played by Grace Werner. A good performance was given by Miss Werner although at times she seemed a bit over-dramatic as did George Werner, who played the role of her husband.

Both the Werners, however, are old troupers as far as the Players are concerned and can always be depended upon to give good performances.

Helen Wetheral was seen as Mrs. Preston, the mother who aids her daughter to upset the happy home. Miss Wetheral was convincing in her part and like Miss Link, gave a good performance in the scenes where she changes from the adoring, retiring mother to a character who is interested only in seeing that her daughter makes a "good" marriage.

Other players who adequately portrayed minor roles were Peggie Cohalan, Betty Lynch, William Hand and Robert Estes.

The scenery, painted by Charles J. Clarke, was unusually good. George Werner was in charge of the scenery, Myrtle Harnden was responsible for properties and Paul Goodyear for make-up.

The sixth annual meeting and election of officers will be held Tuesday, at 8.30 P. M., at the Narberth School. All members are urged to attend.

but that owners must agree to notify either the borough office or the Lower Merion Police Department upon their return. He also said that Thomas W. Merkle had been sworn in as a Narberth policeman.

Councilmen as a body accepted an invitation to take part in the Harold D. Speakman Post's American Legion Memorial Day parade and $150 was appropriated to help defray the procession's expense.

Purchase by the borough of eight "No Parking on This Side" signs and two fire lamps at a total cost of $44.80 were approved.

It was approved, on recommendation of E. P. Dold, tax collector, that 1937 borough taxes may be paid in four installments if so desired.

Showers at the borough property at 102 Conway avenue, adjoining the playfield, were installed at a cost of $341.07, it was reported by Clarence Kaeber, chairman of the special committee in charge of the improvements.

Merion Trees Attacked by Sycamore Disease

Steps taken to preserve the trees in the township from Sycamore Disease were outlined at a meeting of the Lower Merion Shade Tree Commission Tuesday.

J. C. Kenealy, tree warden, reported that 111 out of 149 trees in Merion pruned last month were Oriental Planes which have been attacked by this disease.

The trees trimmed are located on Orchard Way, Cherry Bend, Linden lane, Sycamore avenue, all in Merion, and on Upland terrace, Bala.

Purpose in trimming is three-fold, Kenealy stated: safety, beauty and disease eradication.

Works Progress Administration tree removal and roadside beautification crew removed twenty-one trees during the month. These included sixteen Wild Cherry trees on Mary Waters Ford road, Penn Valley, one dead Plane tree on Cherry Bend, Merion, and four dead Lombardy Poplars on Newfield Way, Cynwyd.

borough uniform while Al Herrmann also was given a chance to limber up his arm in the last few periods.

Narberth will be on hand to help Gladwyne with its flag raising exercises May 22 in the season's Main Line League opener for these two teams. The Merion Square community is planning a big time for the occasion. The borough's first home game will be the morning of May 31 against Brookline, with all June games on the local field. Five games away are scheduled from May 22 to 31.

Manager Davis expects his defending champions to be up near the top again this season, but admits that the absence of three of his veterans will not aid the line-up. They are Mickey Gavin, whose injuries ended his baseball career; Johnny Brennan, now with Richmond in the Piedmont League, and Joe Burns, who has a berth with South Boston in a Virginia circuit.

"NEVER HEARD A GRUMBLE!"

"I've been a telephone man for twenty-six years. Sure I like it. This gang of cable-splicers who work for me are a great bunch of fellows. I've worked with them on some pretty tough jobs and they always come through. I've called 'em out of bed to go out in a blizzard for emergency work and never heard a grumble. Most of them just say, 'I'll be there!'"

A modern telephone cable, little larger than a man's wrist, contains as many as 3636 wires! The rapid development of cable lines, replacing open wire, has done much to reduce service interruptions to a minimum. But this is only one of many scientific advancements recently made in telephony. Today, by telephone, you can reach almost anyone—anywhere—at any time—quickly, easily and at moderate cost. Number please?

Lower Merion won two good ball games during the past week. Ray Ryder, husky righthander for the Bulldogs, did the mound work last week against Upper Darby and it was his home run in the final inning that won the game, 5 to 4. The same Ray returned to the peak against Cheltenham, at Pennypacker Field, Tuesday last, and turned the Cheltenham players back by a 4 to 1 margin. This is the first season in a long, long time, unless I am mistaken, that a Lower Merion baseball team has won two games over Upper Darby. Usually the neighboring Darbies can more than hold their own against the locals in baseball, but this year it seems that the Maroon has the upper hand.

The two Norristown games have been rained out repeatedly, so it appears that the mere possibility of a game between the two schools this year will come under the head of news. The Blue Eagles have been doing very well indeed this season, and if they can take two from Coach Fetter's boys, they will have a good chance for the championship. Haverford is the only school that will give them much of a battle for the crown, although Abington has been doing some surprising things. The boys coached by Erb have won a large number of games due to good pitching, good fielding and good hitting. If Haverford and Norristown get pulled down the ladder by unexpected competition, the York Road outfit might come out on top.

Coach Drumm took some of his cinder artists to effete Princeton last Saturday and nosed out Norristown in the Class A High School division of the Interscholastics by a mere point or two.

The results of the work turned in by the Maroon track team the past two weeks gives cause for optimism for the remaining meets of the year.

Ed. Beetem, large boy from the Main Line, now attending Mercersburg Academy helped his team to a victory last Saturday in the Princeton meet. The big boy has improved tremendously this year, hurling the hammer, shot, and discus in first class style.

The Lower Merion Junior High School went to Tome School last Saturday where they won second place in the large spring meet held there. Trenton Junior High No. 3 won first place. Last year the Leopards took the meet.

In spite of the remarkable records set up in various sports during the past generation, the colleges are still turning out boys who can better them. The pole vault has been one of the track events that gets a surprising jolt every year or so. Some of these days they will have to put a parachute on the vaulters so that they can descend with safety from the precarious heights they are attaining.
